Kodak, was founded in 1888. It was really succesful thanks to the introduction of the film in the market, replacing the glass plates

His motto at that time describes his value proposal quite well:

“You press
the button,
we do the rest”

George Eastman

Mini collections

There is a collection for everyone!

Folding spring hinge

Kodak has built many folding cameras in all their career. We have used this technique to create a new spring hinge inspired in the folding camera. This folding spring hinge is more resistant than most of the spring hinges of the market and also more flexible for a better use.

Tip hole

Round shapes are always involved in cameras as viewfinders, lenses, buttons...We wanted to use this recognized shape in the tips of the frames simulating a camera lens.

180° hinge

There is no better sensation than open the back case of the camera and see that the film is over. It's time to develop and see all our photographs! We saw that this movement could work to make unbreakable temples that can open 180°.

Black and gold materials

The mixed materials in the cameras, is what made them sophisticated and beautiful on the outside. To transmit these sensations in our glasses we have developed a titanium and double layer of metal frame in black and matt gold to get the sensation of the focus rings rolling.

Textures and colors

This is a premium camera that came out of a single material plate, making each unit maintain the same color but with different textures. We do the same with our acetate plates from where many of our frames come from, so we make each of them unique.

Rounded shapes

As we know all the cameras have in common their rounded shapes of buttons, lenses and designs. In Kodak stereo camera, the symmetry is the axis of its beauty. We have developed some rounded frames to empower that symmetry in all the outfits.

Tripod system

We have developed a mechanism based on the tripods of cameras that allows a rotation of both rods of 360 degrees. Greater comfort, greater adaptability, greater freedom of movement: because your life rotates 360 degrees...

Easy opening

We have played with the same system of 180° but with metal TR90 frames , a really light material that become the most comfortable and secure frame.

CLIP ON

How can we make that users see life in full color? That is what we did, with the inspiration of color filters of the cameras, we have developed different color layers that sticks to the main frame thanks to a strong magnet. You will have three glasses in one with the CLIP ON frames!

Laminations

Thick color stripes are getting recurrent in the digital Kodak cameras. We took that characteristic to create the laminations in the tips. You will find a big range of combined colors in each frame.

Camera lens temple

The lens is one of the most important part of the camera. The lens directs the light rays towards the sensor. We wanted to do an homage of the most popular KODAK lens transforming part of the temple into a camera lens.

Starting in the early 1950s, photographer Philippe Halsman asked famous people to be photographed jumping for him.

From Marilyn Monroe, Grace Kelly and Brigitte Bardot, to Richard Nixon and Salvador Dali, Halsman photographed an impressive number of illustrious sitters jumping.

When we look at somebody's face we don't know what they think or feel but at the moment of the jump, everybody becomes free again.

"Jumping humanity can be divided into two categories: one which tries to jump as high as possible and one which doesn't care"

- Philippe Halsman

KODAK Frames SHOWCARD CAMERA

Folding spring hinge

Kodak has built many folding cameras in all their career. We have used this technique to create a new spring hinge inspired in the folding camera. This folding spring hinge is more resistant than most of the spring hinges of the market and also more flexible for a better use.

Black and gold materials

The mixed materials in the cameras, is what made them sophisticated and beautiful on the outside. To transmit these sensations in our glasses we have developed a titanium and double layer of metal frame in black and matt gold to get the sensation of the focus rings rolling.
